Washington State Patrol's "Most Wanted" Arrest

Detectives from the Yakima WSP Criminal Investigation Unit announced the arrest today of WSP Most Wanted suspect Marcio Castillo-Crisostomo by Stockton, California Police.

Castillo-Crisostomo was wanted for a felony hit-and-run that occurred on October 9, 2003, on I-82 at Firing Center Road. Castillo-Crisostomo fled from the scene after severely injuring another driver. He was later caught and arrested by troopers. After his arraignment, Castillo-Crisostomo was released from custody. He subsequently failed to appear at trial.

Yakima WSP detectives conducted an on-line database search and discovered an address in Stockton, California. Detectives notified the Stockton Police Department of the address, and Stockton officers located Castillo-Crisostomo at about 4 p.m. today and took him into custody. Transportation back to Washington State is in progress.
